SPEED KINGS

THE POWER OF THE PRESS

In Gothenburg, Sweden, an experiment was held to determine how quickly newspapers could be produced. At 7:35 in the morning 3 large trees were chopped down; at 9:34 the wood had been stripped of its bark, cut up, and converted into pulp. It became paper and passed from the mill to the press, where the first printed and folded copy was issued at 10 o'clock. In 145 minutes the trees had become newspapers, a speed record never since equalled.

A RIDE FOR THE MONEY

On Feb. 20, 1885 Louis Remme, a French Canadian trader living in San Francisco, learned that the Adams Express Company had gone bankrupt, thereby losing his life's savings of $12,500 on deposit with the agency. As a last desperate attempt to recover his money, Remme decided to outdistance the steamer "Columbia" carrying the news to the Portland, Oregon, office, 665 miles away. Riding continuously on horseback for 3 consecutive days and nights over hazardous terrain, Remme reached his destination and cashed a check withdrawing his savings just 3 minutes before the steamer arrived with news of the bankruptcy.

TIMELY SHAVES

On Sept. 23, 1887, Teddy Wick a barber of Chelsea, England participated in a 1 hour marathon to ascertain the number of customers he could shave within that period of time. During the elapsed time, Wick succeeded in completing 77 shaves, an average of 1 each 47 seconds. He was awarded a silver medal for the accomplishment and issued a challenge defying anyone to beat his record. On Nov. 8th William Markay, another barber attempted to outdo Wick but failed, having performed 63 shaves in an hour.

FAST PEN

Lope de Vega, Spanish playwright, could write a complete play in 2 days, a light farce in an hour or two. In the course of his life he completed more than 2,000 original dramas. It has been estimated that de Vega was the author of almost 21½ million written lines.
